

THAT WHICH IS CLAIMED:

1. A computer screen display displayed on a display device during a collaborative learning event, said display comprising:

a first area displaying a streaming video of a collaborative learning event;

5 a second area displaying a slide providing information relating to the collaborative learning event; wherein said slide is associated with the streaming video;

a third area displaying at least one of an archived document related to the streaming video and the slide, and a web page; and a fourth area displaying control options for selecting and displaying one of a list of events and a list of documents associated with the collaborative learning event.

10